A. COMPETITION LAW :

1. Report of Standing Committee on Finance on Anti-competitive Practices by Big Tech Companies

The Report was presented in Lok Sabha and laid in Rajya Sabha on December 22, 2022.

The need for addressing potential anti-competitive concerns was observed in the report due to the growing advantage of the digital markets. There are economies of scale in the digital markets and such markets grow exponentially due to the learning and network effects.

The Standing Committee on Finance noted activities of the leading players in digital markets that can negatively impact the competition. There are 10 such significant activities as noted in the report.

Therefore, a recommendation has been made to categorize certain entities as Systematically Important Digital Intermediaries ("SIDI") and several mandatory obligations were noted to be imposed on such entities. The report mentions activities of the SIDI that are anti-competitive. In this regard, mandatory obligations have been recommended. These are:

- a. Anti-steering provisions preventing users from moving to other platforms
- b. Self-preferencing
- c. Bundling and tying
- d. Data usage
- e. Mergers and acquisitions including "killer acquisitions"
- f. Dynamic pricing and deep discounting
- g. exclusive tie-ups
- h. Search and ranking preferencing
- i. Restricting third party applications
- j. Advertising policies.

Another recommendation was submission of annual report by the SIDIs to the Competition Commission of India. The report should detail the measures undertaken by the SIDIs to prevent anti-competitive practices and comply with the mandatory obligations. Introduction of a 'Digital Competition Act' for ensuring fair competition in the digital market has also been suggested. It is also recommended to introduce a designated and specialized digital market unit which only addresses the need of competition in the digital markets.

C. INSOLVENCY AND BANKRUPTCY CODE (IBC):

1. NCLT , Amravati opines: If a Personal Guarantor is not a party to the OTS, then OTS cannot be construed as an acknowledgment on part of the Guarantor

The NCLT, Amravati Bench observed that as per Section 135 of the Indian Contract Act of 1872, a surety is discharged if the creditor and principal debtor enters a contract by which a composition or promise is arrived at unless surety assents to such contract.

It was noted that the Personal Guarantor was not a party to the said OTS proposal and it was not even signed by the Personal Guarantor. Therefore, the OTS cannot be construed as an acknowledgement on part of the Personal Guarantor.

2. NCLAT, New Delhi enunciates that for every refund demanded by the liquidator, an application has to be made

The NCLAT, Principal Bench, New Delhi observed that there is no inconsistency between Section 11B of the Central Excise Act, 1944 and Section 33 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as “IBC”).

Section 11B enables the Corporate Debtor to make an application for a refund of duty. The purpose of the Moratorium which comes into play after the liquidation order is to protect the Debtor from legal proceedings. In the present case, no such legal proceeding has been initiated against the Debtor. It was noted by the Appellate Tribunal that the present case concerns a refund based on whether an application is required to be made or not.

It was opined by the Appellate Tribunal that Section 11B of the Central Excise Act, 1944 does not provide for an automatic refund. Concerning one refund for which the Application was not filed by the Liquidator, the Bench expounded that for such a refund if there was no claim, the Central Excise Department was not obliged to refund the said amount.

3. NCLAT, New Delhi enunciates that if ‘related parties’ constitute CoC, the Committee along with the decision taken by the Committee becomes ipso facto illegal

The NCLAT, New Delhi expounded that in absence of any proof and just by relying on letters demanding repayment of loans sent by financial creditors to the Corporate Debtor, the NCLT should not have accepted the Section 7 application of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as “IBC”). It was also enunciated that once the beginning of CIRP is found to be based on fraud, other issues about the constitution of CoC and decisions, etc. become irrelevant as once the foundation of CIRP crumbles, all the later process would fall as it wouldn’t have any base to stand on. Concerning the allegation of related parties, the Tribunal propounded that the four companies are ‘related parties’ of the Corporate Debtor and therefore, there was a clear contravention of the first proviso of Section 5(24) of the IBC. The CoC became illegal and all the decisions taken thereof too became illegal when the related parties became members of the CoC.

4. NCLAT, New Delhi enunciates that an irrevocable and unconditional Bank Guarantee can be invoked during the Section 14 moratorium

The NCLAT, New Delhi bench expounded that Bank Guarantees are outside the scope of the moratorium under Section 14 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as “IBC”) and Section 3 (31) specifically excludes Performance Bank Guarantees.

It was further opined that after an amendment to Section 14(3)(b) of the IBC, an irrevocable and unconditional Bank Guarantee can be invoked during the Section 14 moratorium.

5. NCLT, Indore expounds: Right of dissenting creditor to proceed against the personal guarantor of the Corporate Debtor cannot be extinguished by CoC

The NCLT, Indore Bench expounded that a conditional plan without the consent of all the secured financial creditors is in contravention of the IBC.

It was opined that the Committee of Creditors (“CoC”) can only take decisions concerning the insolvency of the Corporate Debtor. Under the pretext of commercial wisdom, the right of a secured financial creditor to proceed against the personal guarantor of the Corporate Debtor cannot be extinguished.

It was enunciated that the CoC by majority votes cannot enforce its decision for extinguishment of the right of the dissenting creditor to proceed against the personal guarantor.

6. Invitation of comments from the public on changes being considered to the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016

Changes to the admission of corporate insolvency resolution process applications, streamlining the insolvency resolution process, recasting the liquidation process and the role of service providers are being considered to strengthen the functioning of the IBC.

Some of the changes being considered are:

- a. To use an e-platform that provides a case management system., an automated process for filing applications.
- b. Before initiating the corporate insolvency resolution process by filing an application, the financial creditors, operational creditors and corporate debtors first ascertain the relevant information regarding the occurrence of a default or dispute at the information utilities.
- c. Amendment to Section 215 is being considered that before an operational creditor file an application to initiate the corporate insolvency resolution process, relevant financial information is filed with the Information Utilities in advance.
- d. For adjudicating any application is preferred under Sections 7 or 9, the Adjudicating Authority only relies on the record of the default available with the Information Utilities.
- e. Amendment to section 10 to delete the right of the corporate debtor to propose an Insolvency Resolution Professional.
- f. Certain modifications and relaxations are to be made under Chapter IIIA of Part II of the IBC.
- g. To clarify Section 31 further to include the Adjudicating Authority can send back a resolution plan to the CoC for curing defects.
- h. To amend Section 29 to provide that the estimated value of the assets of the corporate debtor is added to the information memorandum.
- i. Restriction on the right of the secured creditor is being considered to either realize the security interest or relinquish it within a prescribed period.
- j. It is being considered to enable the CoC to seek replacement of the RP from becoming liquidator by a vote of a minimum 66% of the voting shares.
- k. Common AA and IP for the corporate debtor and its related parties.

7. Report of Cross Border
Insolvency Rules/Regulations
Committee (CBIRC-II) on Group
Insolvency

Various relevant stakeholders were consulted by CBIRC-II and a report was submitted to MCA.

Some of the key recommendations are:

- a. A voluntary and flexible group insolvency framework.
- b. UNCITRAL Model Law on Enterprise group insolvency to be incorporated after enactment of single entity cross border insolvency laws.
- c. A broad and inclusive definition of “group” should be provided in the group insolvency framework so that many corporate debtors can be included.
- d. The group insolvency framework should not be made applicable to the solvent members of the group.
- e. List of procedural coordination mechanisms to be made available.
- f. Allowing joint applications against multiple corporate debtors by those belonging to the same group.
- g. Proceedings concerning corporate debtors belonging to one group may take place under the same Adjudicating Authority.
- h. Enabling of group coordination proceedings for corporate debtors belonging to the same group and undergoing corporate insolvency resolution or liquidation process.
- i. Voluntary participation of the corporate debtor in the group coordination. The CoCs must have the flexibility to opt-in to the group coordination proceedings until 30 days after its opening.
- j. Requirement of the approval of all participating CoCs by 66% each of their voting shares respectively in a group strategy.
- k. The cost of conducting group coordination proceedings should form part of the insolvency or liquidation process cost of the participating group members.

8. NCLAT, New Delhi enunciates : a financial service provider having assets worth Rs. 500 crores or more can only proceed for insolvency and liquidation

The NCLAT, New Delhi bench observed that a notification by MCA has been issued vide which Financial Service Providers have been brought under the IBC. However, the notification puts a threshold which is an asset size of Rs. 500 crores or more.

It was opined that the current law on this matter is that a financial service provider having assets worth Rs. 500 crores or more can only proceed for insolvency and liquidations. It was enunciated that the Tribunal would have jurisdiction that is exercised on the date when an application can be filed against the financial service provider for insolvency. Moreover, an application under Section 95 can only be filed against the personal guarantor only when on the same date insolvency can be commenced against the financial service provider.

Merely for argument's sake, the Appellate Authority analyzed the issue where the asset size of the financial service provider as on the date of filing of the application was more than Rs. 500 crores, but reduced during the pendency of the application, then it that case whether NCLT would lose its jurisdiction.

In this regard, the Bench opined that in the case of statutory precondition for the exercise of jurisdiction, the pre-condition must be fulfilled before the jurisdiction is exercised by the tribunal. The Bench observed that if the contention of the Respondent is accepted that if asset size is reducing during the pendency, the Tribunal loses jurisdiction then the same would be contrary to the objective of IBC which is speedy.

9. Delhi HC propounds:
Adjudication of avoidance application is independent of the resolution of the Corporate Debtor
and can survive CIRP

The Delhi High Court opined that the corporate insolvency resolution process (hereinafter referred to as "CIRP") and avoidance applications are different proceedings and hence, adjudication of avoidance application is independent of the resolution of the corporate debtor and can survive CIRP. Further, avoidance applications cannot be rendered infructuous where the resolution plan is silent on the treatment of such applications. Money borrowed from creditors is public money and hence, the same cannot be appropriated by way of private transactions/arrangements.

Therefore, the RP will not be functus officio when it comes to avoidance applications. After avoidance of transactions the money cannot go to the kitty of the resolution applicant and the benefit must be given to the creditors.

G. EVALUATION OF PROPERTY TAX IN GREATER MUMBAI – RATEABLE VALUE V/S. CAPITAL VALUE

By : Samreen Paloba and Sana Khan

Ann Landers once said that, “A person doesn’t know how much he has to be thankful for until he has to pay taxes on it.”

In a metropolitan city like Mumbai, property tax is a vital source of revenue to the municipal corporation. The valuation and collection of property taxes are governed by the Mumbai Municipal Corporation Act, 1888 (“MMC Act”).

Until the year 2009, property tax computation was placed solely on the basis of rateable value. The Municipal Corporation of Greater Mumbai (“Corporation”) gauged that fixation of rateable value was heavily based on the annual rent/fees and was very subjective, hence the Corporation found it necessary to explore other methods of assessment. After much of deliberation and in lines with the report of the Tata Institute of Social Sciences, capital value based system of assessment was recommended as an alternative to the earlier rateable value method. In 2009; an amendment was made to the MMC Act wherein sections 154(1A), (1B) and (1C) were introduced and it was stipulated that the Municipal Commissioner was authorised to fix the capital value of land and building with the approval of the Standing Committee.

The concepts of rateable value and capital value are briefly explained herein.

Rateable Value Vs Capital Value?

The basis of determination of rateable value as provided in the MMC Act was the annual rent for which such property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, in case the property is let out. Whereas, in order to fix the capital value of the property assessable to a property tax, the Commissioner shall have regard to the value of property as indicated in the Stamp Duty Ready Reckoner for the time being or the market value of such property as the base value.

Why the shift from rateable value to capital value?

Since the rateable value was purely basis the rent/licensee, it had become a common practice to manipulate the rent by splitting the rent into various components viz. furniture & fixture, business etc. which led to huge revenue loss to the Corporation. This entire trick of dodging the property tax was let go.

As per Section 154(1A) of the MMC Act which was brought pursuant to the amendment; while fixing the capital value as aforesaid, the Corporation shall also have regard to (a) the nature and type of the land and structure of the building, (b) area of land or carpet area of building, (c) user category, (d) age of the building, or (e) such other factors as may be specified by rules made under subsection (1B).

As an after effect, the property tax in areas/locations which have high market value, for instance South Mumbai, were increased. Thus, there was no scope of keeping the property tax deliberately low.

However, even though property value stipulated in the stamp duty ready reckoner was the basis of capital value; the Rules formulated by the Corporation were taking account of future potential. This amplified the property value even beyond the stamp duty ready reckoner.

A number of petitions were filed before the Hon'ble Bombay High Court challenging the constitutional validity of the amendments effected vide the Maharashtra Act No. XI of 2009 (Writ Petition No. 2592 of 2014 Property Owners Association and Ors. Vs. State of Maharashtra and Ors.). Large organizations like Property Owners Association filed Writ Petitions to oppose the unilateral augmentation of property tax on the basis of likelihood of future exploitation particularly Rule 20 of the Capital Value Rules of 2010 which provided that in addition to the present potential of the property, future potential is also to be valued and assessed for property tax accordingly. The petitions also challenged the retrospective applicability of Capital Value Rules of 2010.

The Hon'ble Bombay High Court vide its Order dated 24th April 2019, upheld the constitutional validity of the amendments effected vide the Maharashtra Act No. XI of 2009. At the same time, the Rules 20, 21 and 22 of the Capital Value Rules of 2010 and the Capital Value Rules of 2015 were struck down as ultra vires. Also, the Capital Value Rules of 2010 were to apply prospectively from the date on which the same were made.

The Corporation being aggrieved, approached the Apex Court by Special Leave Petition (C) 17009 of 2019. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, inter alia, weighed in the question as to whether future potential of the land or the likelihood of exploitation in future can also be taken into consideration while fixing the capital value?

In its Order dated 7th November 2022, the Hon'ble Supreme Court thus inter alia held that the capital value of the land and building must be based on situation "in presenti" and not the future potential and upheld the ruling of the Hon'ble Bombay High Court.

Conclusion:

In light of the aforesaid, the Bombay High Court and the Apex Court have ruled in favour of levying property tax on the basis of Capital Value that is implemented in Mumbai. This process shall bring transparency and more objectivity in the process. It has led to averting the hand in gloves schemes of landlords and lessees to evade the property tax.

Similar to Mumbai, even Gujarat places reliance on capital value to levy property tax. In order to bring the uniformity and transparency it is hoped that in times to come, a unified code for levying assessment tax is brought in place all over the country.
